

Dear Brocade & Ruckus Customers & Partners,

I wanted to reach out with a personal note to update you on the upcoming acquisition of the Brocade Ruckus Wireless and ICX Switch business by ARRIS. We are very excited about the combination of the companies, and your business is extremely important to us. I look forward to the opportunity to meet and understand how we might collaborate more closely to accomplish your goals, and leverage the additional scale and capabilities of the combined ARRIS team. We are committed to making this transition seamless and a positive experience for you.

In the meantime, I would like to update you on the status of the acquisition and what you can expect from us in the coming months. Working closely with Broadcom, we are making good progress on regulatory approvals, and both the Broadcom/Brocade deal and the Broadcom/ARRIS deal are on track to close later this summer. We plan to form a new, dedicated ARRIS business unit comprised of the Ruckus Wireless and ICX Switch product and sales teams. Combined with the global scale and presence from ARRIS, we believe we will have an unrivalled wired and wireless portfolio that will give you the tools to connect people around the world in new and powerful ways.

We are committed to ensuring continuity throughout this transition. We are not planning any changes to the product roadmap other than normal adjustments due to market conditions. The Ruckus supply chain will continue to operate as usual, and all agreements that are transferred as part of the transaction will be honored. This commitment extends to the Ruckus sales and systems engineering teams who will continue to support your requirements across the wired and wireless portfolios.

We share Brocade's and Ruckus's commitment to customers and partners, with a keen focus on delivering the best possible experiences. Ruckus Big Dogs and Brocade ICX partners can expect significant improvements in continuity across platforms, as we combine the former Brocade and Ruckus channel programs, tools and systems into one integrated channel program for both wired and wireless solutions.

As we incorporate the Ruckus team and combined portfolio within ARRIS, I want to personally thank you for your continued loyalty and enthusiasm for the business. We are very excited to be part of inventing the next era of communication, and growing this new Enterprise segment of our business. Our success depends on yours; please reach out to your Ruckus sales representative with any feedback or concerns.

Sincerely,
